Hood's Pills

Easy to take and easy to operate, is true of Hood's Pills, which are up to date in every respect. Safe, certain and sure. All druggists, etc. C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Are you in pain, my little man?" asked the kind old gentleman. "No," answered the boy. "The pain's in me."

He who would influence men must not live so severed from them that he ceases to know and understand them.—Van Oosterzee.

To do good to men is the great work of life; to make them true Christians is the greatest good we can do them.—J. W. Alexander.

No man has come to true greatness who has not felt, in some degree, that his life belongs to his race, and that what God gives him is given for mankind.—Phillips Brooks.

YOU NEED Hood's Sarsaparilla if your blood is impure, your appetite gone, your health impaired. Nothing builds up health like HOOD'S.

President McKinley delivered an address on Washington to the students of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia on last Tuesday, the birthday of the statesman, warrior and citizen.

After years of untold suffering from piles, B. W. Pursell, of Knitersville, Pa., was cured by using a single box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Skin diseases such as eczema, rash, pimples and obstinate sores are readily cured by this famous remedy.

A thrill of terror is experienced when a brassy cough of croup sounds through the house at night. But the terror soon changes to relief after One Minute Cough Cure has been administered. Safe and harmless for children.

"I'm all in the dark about how these bills are to be paid," said Mr. Hardup to his wife.

"Well, Harry," said she, as she pulled out a yellow one and laid it on top of the pile, "you will be if you don't pay that one, for that's the gas bill."

When they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. Is it not equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor enough. He suffers much, gets little sympathy. At first, perhaps, a little heaviness in the stomach, a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn; headaches and biliousness and foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and means that the body is holding poisonous, impure matter that should be gotten rid of. The poison is being reabsorbed into the blood and the whole body. Impurity in the blood may lead to almost any disease. Constipation is the start of it all. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, cure it so it stays cured. No other remedy in the world will do that.

COL. INGERSOLL

And the Erstwhile Salvation Army.

The Salvation Army attracted much attention the other day by parading the streets carrying a banner, the wording upon which was dictated to Colonel Robert Ingersoll, who delivered a lecture in this city on Wednesday night. The inscription on the banner was: "This is the only consolation held out by Bob Ingersoll to despondent mankind."

Above these words were a revolver, a huge knife, a bottle representing poison, a piece of gas pipe, and last of all a gallows, with the hangman's noose ready for adjustment upon the neck of the victim. Next to the bearer of this banner was the man with the big drum and the women with tambourines and the procession attracted the notice of everybody on the streets. All sorts of remarks were made upon the strange banner. One old negro woman, who looked astonished at the unique articles of destruction upon the banner said, "Dem folks gwine ter war sho' nough. I never did know the Salvation Army was fighters before."

"Shux," said a sable companion, "you doan know what you talkin' about. Dat doan mean the Salvation Army gwine to fight. Dat sign say all de folks what believe in Ingersoll doan believe in God, an' dey either shoot 'emthemselves or gits hung; dat's all."

"Waal, I do declar," was the laconic exclamation of the old woman.—Louisville Dispatch, Feb. 24.

For Sore Throat.

An excellent remedy for a sore throat is strong, cold tea. Make the tea as strong as possible and gargle your throat with it. Tea is very astringent, and especially beneficial to singers or those who use their voices a great deal. Another simple remedy, which is especially good if the sore throat is the result of exposure to sewer air, is spirits of turpentine. It is an excellent disinfectant and one of the best known destroyers of microbes.

Saturate little pieces of flannel with it, pin them on your pillow and on your night dress when you retire, and you will find you will sleep more comfortably and awaken much relieved. Repeat the process for several nights.

Two or three times during the day boil about a pint of water with two tablespoonfuls of turpentine in an old teakettle over a small spirit lamp. Let it puff away for ten minutes, while you inhale the steam generated by it through the spout of the kettle. A teaspoonful of oil of tar may be substituted for the turpentine, if preferred. It is also excellent, and, like the latter, very healing and soothing.—Harper's Bazar.

Wishes He Had Not.

Jones was always under the impression that he was a born humorist, and his friends never succeeded in convincing him to the contrary. But he has given up trying to be funny now; he says his humor was the means of his losing a girl with a lot of money, and he has never got over the blow. He explains it in this way:

He was courting a broker's daughter. One day he called upon her, and she happened to be at home; he considered himself fortunate, as she had been out every time he had called for a week, and he determined to make the best of his opportunity and pop the question. He found her in a room busily engaged with small bundles of dried grasses which she had collected.

"What a quantity of dried grass you have collected, Miss Ritchie," he said. Then his humor burst forth. "Nice room for a donkey to get into."

"Make yourself at home, Mr. Jones," she said sweetly, before he could finish the joke.

He went home, and all the humor was crushed out of him forever.

True Self-Denial.

Six native Christians on the banks of the Euphrates, whose property averaged perhaps eight hundred dollars, gave toward their chapel and school-room three hundred and eight dollars, an average of more than fifty dollars each, which meant "for one of those poor mountaineers more than one thousand days' work."

Only he who lives a life of his own can help the lives of other men.—Phillips Brooks.

Interesting Letter.

The following letter will be interesting. It is true, because A. T. Pieratt has certified the fact:

"EHEL, Ky., Feb. 22, '98. Editor ADVOCATE, Mt. Sterling, Ky. D. S. Rose, of this place, is the owner of a milk cow, from which Dr. A. B. Nickell removed a three-tined table fork, about six inches from her fore-leg just back of her sternum or breast bone. About the first of last July Mr. Rose discovered that something was wrong with his cow, as she would continually be grunting and gradually losing in flesh. Her disease was attributed to hollow horn, and he had her dehorned, but all to no avail. Some two months ago he discovered a swollen place on her breast, and it became very sore and he opened it, but it did not run much, and yesterday evening when his wife went to milk the cow she discovered the three prongs of the fork protruding from the swollen place. Dr. Nickell was called and succeeded in removing the fork complete, handle and all. The cow must have evidently swallowed the fork and it worked from the stomach to the outside. Has any of your readers such a case to report? If so, let us hear from them.

Respectfully yours, A. T. PIERATT."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. ### Cobalt in Kentucky.

We clip the following letter from the Courier-Journal written by one of our former townsmen:

Mt. Sterling, Ky., February 20.—In an article from Denver, Col., appearing in today's Courier-Journal, under the caption "Cobalt in America," it is asserted that this discovery in Wyoming is the first of this precious mineral ever found in America, an assertion which I beg leave to contradict.

Here in our own State, and not fifty miles from the city whose name heads this letter, is a much richer deposit than that indicated in the Denver article, for instead of $128 to the ton the Kentucky deposit showed in its assay something over $700.

This deposit—about one hundred acres—is owned by parties at Shelbyville and Midway, this State, and if any one doubts the statement as to its existence in this State or its richness he has but to write the undersigned at Ashland, Ky., and I will forward him a sample. I made discovery of this in 1890.

Sincerely, I. N. PHIPPS.

Whooping cough is the most distressing malady; but its duration can be cut short by the use of One Minute Cough Cure, which is also the best known remedy for croup and all lung and bronchial troubles.
